

Management at your fingertips

Once considered an optional extra, soft skills are now seen to translate into hard cash. While everybody agrees they want their staff to become more competent in management and personal skills there is little agreement as to how best achieve this. With its portfolio of 46 engaging courses the online Management Milestones collection from Jenison provides interactive skill building courseware for managers to develop critical competencies for business success.

The user friendly courseware provides a range of off-the-shelf management and personal improvement topics for managers from supervisors to developing and middle managers and more. The courses can be mapped to an organisations competency framework as well as being used as a support mechanism for individuals undertaking management qualifications. The portfolio covers a variety of topics including leadership and team development, facilitation skills, sales and communication skills, budgeting and finance, personal development and customer service. With Management Milestones, cost-effective online management training is available anytime and anywhere to enable your staff to undertake their learning at a time convenient to them with the resources ready as and when they are. What a difference a day makes...

A DATE FOR YOUR DIARY

OUR COMMITMENT

The day was National Learning at Work Day on Thursday 25th May 2006. The difference was being able to help employers across the UK show their commitment to staff learning and development. To support employers who wanted to take part in this inspirational campaign, Jenison offered free access to online IT and ECDL courses for not just the day but the whole week from 22nd May 2006.

Organised by the workplace learning charity, the Campaign for Learning, the day itself worked as a 'hook' to draw people and organisations into workplace learning who might not otherwise have been involved and to educate about further learning opportunities. Jenison had an excellent response to their offer to promote learning opportunities with a week's free access for unlimited users to their Impetus online IT and ECDL courses.

If you are interested to find out more about how the campaign stimulated interest in elearning call 01273 224228 or email us on conradhamer@jenison.co.uk.

Ease your access to elearning with a hosted environment

OUR SERVICES

As well as providing high-quality learning resources for your staff, it can also be important to enable access to those resources when and where they are needed. Many organisations now take advantage of Jenison's web-accessible hosted environment to facilitate their online training. For organisations who do not have, or do not wish to use, their internal systems to install, maintain and update learning products, learners are able to access the learning resources both internally and externally when they choose. The system ensures the privacy and safety of your own business data and your IT resources can remain focused on your core business while your learners develop their knowledge using the online courses. With Jenison hosting this learning process the start up cost and time for introduction are reduced, enabling you to maximise the results from the learning without impacting on your internal resources.
